OLD CUSTOM HOUSE HAD LONG HISTORY

Memories of the days of a monarchy that is dead and of a national flag that floats no more are revived by the destruction of the old royal custom house on Queen street near the head of Sorenson's wharf to make way for the improvements that the government is planning in the way of clearing the waterfront of the numerous buildings that obstruct free access to the wharves and docks. It is the intention of the authorities not to renew the leases to most of the tenants and to gradually make the whole front open ground.

It is a source of regret that another of the old landmarks of the town should be destroyed. The old custom house is the oldest of the government buildings now in existence. The oldest waterfront men say that they do not remember the time when it did not exist. It was built in the period before the lava rock became to be used as a building material and is constructed of coral blocks cut from the reef and carried with great labor by men to the site. No steam cranes or electric elevators were in use during the reign of Kamehameha III and every one of the heavy coral blocks was lifted into place by human hands, yet so well was the building constructed that it is as good today as the day it was built and has taken much hard labor in its demolition.

The old building has had a romantic history and if its massive walls could speak they might tell many interesting stories of the old days. William H. Paty was the first collector and he was followed in 1850 by Charles R. Bishop. Mr. Bishop was succeeded by Warren Goodale who was the collector when the present Custom House was erected in 1860. Col. William H. Allen was the next Collector of the Port and during his administration the addition to the present structure, completed in 1867, was built.

In the days when the old building was in its glory it had the only good vault in the town and all the merchants of Honolulu were wont to deposit their funds, mostly silver, there. On one occasion a native stole the great brass key from the collector's house and got away with some twenty thousand of the silver shiners. The careful native was thoughtful enough to lock the door behind him although it is not recorded whether he returned the key or not.

After the customs offices were removed to their new home the old building had a checkered career. At first it was used as a sugar refinery operated by the late S. N. Castle and others, but the venture did not succeed and it became a rice mill. Later it was a Chinese theater. From the scene of gay theatrical performances the building descended to the quieter level of a hay barn which office it has filled for the last fifteen years. In a few days the last vestige of this veteran of Honolulu will have disappeared.

Shipping Notes.

The schooner Kawallani sailed for Maui ports last evening.

The S. S. American will probably sail tomorrow for New York via Kahului.

The next mail from the coast is due on the steamer Alameda Friday morning.

The Mauna Loa is alongside the American at the coal wharf transferring sugar.

Captain Brown, navy paymaster, accompanied Captain Niblack on the latter's inspection of Maui lighthouses. They sailed on the Iroquois yesterday.

OFFICERS ARE TRANSFERRED

Since arriving in port a week ago Commodore Seabury of the Korea has been confined to his home in Oakland by illness; but has so far recovered that he will be able to sail again in the liner. G. W. Quinn, first assistant engineer, has been granted leave of absence for one voyage, after long service, and his place will be filled by Second Assistant Engineer W. L. Bunker. Chief Steward W. Ashman has just returned to the Korea after a week's vacation at Byron Springs. J. L. Ludlow, third officer of the Korea, has been granted leave of absence for one voyage.

C. H. Cross, formerly well known here as an officer of the Occidental & Oriental liner Doric, is now chief officer of the Dollar steamer M. S. Dollar, to sail today for Puget Sound to load lumber for Shanghai. Cross came here eight years ago as fourth officer of the Doric and rose to the position of second officer before resigning and returning to England. He has had enough of the Atlantic service, he says, and will henceforth ply in the Pacific trade.

Walter Wilcox, who has been fourth officer of the Occidental & Oriental liner Gaelic for many months past, has been appointed third officer of the steamer M. S. Dollar.—Chronicle, July 12.

Liner at Frisco.

After a voyage of sixty days devoid of any incident, the big freighter Hawaiian steamed into port this morning from New York. The steamer made two stops en route to this port for the purpose of taking on coal. The first was at St. Lucia and the last one at Coronal, from which place she came in twenty-one days. The calling in at the former port for coal was unusual, and is only done when the vessel has an extra cargo on board, and her coal supply has to be curtailed in order to make room for the freight.

The Hawaiian encountered extremely pleasant weather, and in the South Atlantic, where it is now winter, very little ice and snow were seen. The steamer was three days in coming through the straits of Magellan.

The cargo amounted to 8,000 tons of general merchandise. The vessel was docked at Greenwich-street wharf.—Examiner, July 10.

Off for Lisiansky.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—The revenue cutter Manning will make a cruise along the Mexican coast to aid the local officers as much as possible to prevent the smuggling of Chinese into the country over the Mexican border. The vessel is now on the way to Lisiansky Island to dispose of a quantity of plumage that had been collected there by a band of Japanese poachers who had been marooned on the barren rock by the wrecking of their vessel. A band of fifty Chinese were turned back from the Mexican border and they are now being held in a prison in the southern republic. It is believed that well organized gangs of smugglers are operating along the border and that their efforts are mainly directed toward bringing Chinese into the country.

HEAVY QUAKES FELT IN KAU

The steamer Mauna Loa which got in early yesterday morning brings reports of heavy earthquake shocks in the Kau district. The shocks were very frequent and some were of considerable duration. No damage was reported. The steamer brought up many tourists and an unusually heavy cargo. She had 8500 bags of sugar which was put off at the Oceanic wharf. Heavy weather was experienced on the outward trip but the incoming voyage was very pleasant. Heavy rains are reported on Hawaii. Six inches fell in the Honokaa district in three days and it was still raining in Kau when the Mauna Loa left Kailua.
